

COMMENCED ATTACK ON LUMBER TRUST

ATTORNEY GENERAL WICKENSHAM FILED SUIT AGAINST COMBINATION TODAY.

GIGANTIC CONSPIRACY

To Maintain High Prices and Other Charges of a Sweeping Nature Regarding Sherman Anti-Trust Law Included in Complaint.

New York, May 19.—Sweeping charges of a gigantic conspiracy to maintain high prices, black list concerns not regarded as "proper" trade, and to violate generally the Sherman anti-trust law, was made in the government suit filed by Attorney General Wickersham in the United States court here today against the so-called lumber trust.

Trade organizations and more than one hundred and fifty individuals are named as defendants in this suit, which may be the first of several planned by the department of justice against combinations of retailers in staple commodities and necessities of life to prevent the ultimate consumer from buying anywhere, except from local retailers.

The government's suit is replete with sensational allegations and it is asserted that builders and consumers of lumber, the country over, are at the mercy of retailers' organizations in different sections of the United States.

The suit filed today is against the eastern states' retail lumber dealers' association.

The government asks a permanent injunction of its government's first anti-trust suit conforming to the Standard Oil decision.

If successful, it will probably be followed by many others, affecting all lines which, it is alleged, combine to increase the cost of living.

FIRST DROWNED OF SEASON YESTERDAY

Two River Young Men Lost His Life While Bathing—Body Recovered By Life Savers.

Two River, Wis., May 19.—The first drowning of the season occurred Thursday when William Weber aged seventeen, was drowned while bathing. His body was recovered by life savers shortly after the accident, but could not be brought to life.

LUMBER MAN AND SENATOR IN TILT

Member of National Lumber Association Said Roosevelt Polioed Donated Trust—La Follette Took Issue With Him.

Washington, May 19.—Leonard Brownson, of the National Lumber association, asserted before the senate committee during the reciprocity hearing, that the policies of Roosevelt and Pinchot were a benefit to the lumber trust and forced up prices. La Follette took issue with him, and as a result Brownson's assertion was stricken from the record.

Milk Producers Opposed. C. H. Potter, Elgin, Ill., representing the Milk Producers' association of Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin, opposed reciprocity on the ground that the United States still needs protection.

"MICKEY" HOLLORAN FINED FOR ASSAULT

Made Arrangements to Pay Fine of $2 and Costs for Striking Little George Reynolds.

Michael Holloran, Jr., better known as "Mickey," who recently returned from a trip to New York City, appeared in court this morning to answer to an assault and battery complaint for striking little George Reynolds, a boy living in the neighborhood of the Holloran home on Hickory street. Holloran pleaded guilty and a fine of two dollars and costs, or $1.70, was fixed by the judge. Holloran, it is said, struck the boy after the latter hit the man with a stone. Holloran had been drinking, which probably caused him to do the act. Just after the warrant was issued by the court, Holloran left town to visit in New York, and it was necessary to wait until his return to serve it. The trip, however, had depleted "Mickey's" financial resources and he made arrangements to pay the amount later.

CLASSICAL NUMBERS PLAYED AT SCHOOL

Prof. Buell Entertained High School With Selection From the Operas on Phonograph This Morning.

Musical numbers of a high quality were enjoyed by the students of the local high school this morning. Selections from the operas of "Lulu" and "Il Trovatore" were rendered by Prof. Buell's phonograph. The short musicals consisted of three numbers, namely: "It Is Better to Laugh," "Sextette from Lulu," and a song from the last scene of "Il Trovatore." The object Prof. Buell has in mind in giving the students this high quality of selections, is to get them familiar with this kind of music.

ARE TAFT AND TEDDY SOON TO JOIN HANDS FOR FIGHT OF 1912?

Despite Roosevelt's Attack On President "World" Says Intimacy Will Be Renewed—Stimson's Appointment Pleased Colonel.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Washington, May 19.—Efforts to draw the White House into reply directly to former President Roosevelt's attack on the proposed arbitration treaty with England and France today failed. Taft took the position that every man was entitled to free speech.

Says They Have "Made Up." New York, May 19.—In a lengthy dispatch from the staff correspondent at Washington, the New York World today says that President Taft and Col. Roosevelt have renewed their old intimacy and the Colonel is working for the reappointment of Taft next year. The recent appointment of Henry Stimson as secretary of War greatly pleased the Colonel, the World says.

FIELD ESTATE BEING SUED FOR LARGEST TAX

State Bringing Action In Florence County To Recover Inheritance Tax From Estate of Late Marshall Field.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., May 19.—Suits to collect something like $100,000 in inheritance taxes from the estate of the late Marshall Field of Chicago will be begun by the state next week in the Florence county court, this county being selected in this case, because 20,000 acres of land belonging to the estate is situated there. The claim for inheritance taxes on the estate of this land, which is declared to be nearly $500,000, will be joined with a claim for a similar tax upon the following shares of stock in Wisconsin railroad corporations, of the estimated value of $6,000,000.

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul—$1,000 preferred; 2,000 common. Chicago & St. Paul—Minneapolis & Omaha—$1,000 preferred; 2,000 common. Chicago & Northwestern—$900 preferred; 14,000 common. Northern Pacific—$100 preferred. All this property is held in trust for Mrs. Ethel Field Gentry, Marshall Field III and Henry Field, heirs of the Chicago Merchant prince. Deputy Attorney General Russell Jackson will represent the state in the litigation and George Lines of Milwaukee the Field estate. The state was in this case it will have collected in the past year in inheritance taxes upon foreign-owned estates a total of about $500,000, and total amount that it is believed by the attorney general's department can be collected is about $1,000,000.

ROADS PERMITTED TO CHARGE HIGHER FARE

Railways in Central Passenger Association May Exact Higher Passenger Fares for Interstate Travel.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, May 19.—The railways of the Central Passenger association territory, including Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan, are permitted, by an order of the Interstate Commerce commission today, to exact higher passenger fares for interstate travel than for intrastate business, where the legislature or state commissions have established a two-centa per mile rate.

Important Rule. Interstate commerce commission also held today that "in the absence of existing instructions the shipper is entitled to have shipment moved via the cheapest available route."

The principle had been in dispute for years and now is determined finally by the commission.

Store Settees Sell Readily Through Want Ads.

Just recently Brown Bros. advertised for sale a number of used store settees, which they did not need, as they recently installed new mission chairs in their store. Immediate responses to the little want ad sold them very readily.

This is just another instance of the effectiveness of the Want Ads. Have you anything you want to turn into money, or exchange for something else. A want ad will do it for you.

STATE MAY TAKE UP GENERAL INSURANCE

Bill Will Probably Pass to Allow State To Engage in Fire, Life and Accident Insurance.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., May 19.—A proposed constitutional amendment to enable the state to go into the general insurance business—fire, life, accident, etc.—was introduced in the senate this morning by the committee on corporations of that house, in the form of a joint resolution. Present prospects are for the adoption of this proposed amendment by this legislature with little opposition. The resolution specifically provides that the state "may accept annuities or insurance upon such risks as shall be provided for by law," and is sufficiently sweeping as to permit state insurance of all kinds. The state under statute is now carrying its own insurance upon state buildings, and a proposition is pending before the legislature to extend this privilege to counties, the premiums being considerably lower than those charged by the regular companies.

BRIDGE QUESTION AT LA CROSSE APPEARS

Contest Between Trempealeau County and La Crosse Over Maintenance of Bridge Bay Go To Legislature.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

La Crosse, May 19.—Because Trempealeau county refused to contribute toward the maintenance of the famous McMillen bridge over Dulek River, the La Crosse county board has ordered the structure closed. La Crosse county built the structure to get trade into La Crosse county. Instead farmers drove to Trempealeau county. That county refused to help maintain the bridge on the ground that it belonged to La Crosse. The legislature has been asked to settle the question.

IMPORTANT MEASURE WAS PASSED TODAY

HUBSTING BILL, PASSED BY STATE SENATE, WENT THROUGH ASSEMBLY TODAY.

BILL IN ITS EFFECT

Gives to the People the Direct Election of Senators—Other Details at Capitol Today.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Madison, May 19.—The lower house of the legislature passed the Hubsting bill, already passed by the senate, granting to the people, in effect, the direct election of United States senators, in so far as that law can be enacted under the state constitutional limitations.

The measure requires candidates for nomination and election to make a statement asserting their intention to support or not support their party candidate, nominated at the primary, for the United States senate. As the power to nominate United States senators, the measure will go in the governor grants the people full control to the national law-making body.

The lower house also adopted the Gottle resolution for a constitutional amendment providing the initiative and referendum in the enactment of laws. This resolution closely follows the Oregon plans and is one of the party pledges of the progressive republicans. It now goes to the senate.

The senate killed the Klezka bill providing for a state excise board, and also to provide a twelve hundred dollar automobile for the state game warden. The senate passed a bill which amended the attorney general of his power. The measure, in which concurrence is expected in the assembly, entrusts the tax commission with the supervision of inheritance taxes. A commission will be represented in inheritance cases by a special investigator to watch over settlements made in the various county courts.

HOT WEATHER CURE
TAKEN TOO FREELY

Three Who Sought to Stave Off Prostration by Heat, With Intoxicants, Arraigned in Court Today.

Thursday's hot spell was responsible for a terrible threat on the part of certain Janesville citizens, pro tempore, and as a result three were haled in municipal court this morning for over-indulgence in the preventative for heat prostration. The first, Anton Rose, was a foreigner employed by the Northwestern railroad. Anton could not understand the terms of the charges when they were read to him by the judge, until the judge explained to him, and then he wanted the court to wait until next pay day, June 15, for the fine of three dollars and costs which the judge imposed. An alternative of five days in the county jail was fixed in case Rose could not pay the fine and he was told he would have to make arrangements for the payment of the fine, as he desired, with the sheriff.

Henry Hugel, recently put on the black list, was another. Hugel had been preparing for the hot spell some time in advance, according to statements made in court, and was on the verge of the tremors. Hugel was given five days in jail to give the "munkies" a chance to depart, and a fine of $3 and costs or five additional days was imposed. Louis Olson, a stevedock and furnace cleaner, was also hauled in. He was charged with being drunk and with having been in the company of a woman at the railroad station with a comfortable "munkie." For this he was to be in jail for three days, being unable to pay a fine of $2 and costs.

MILTON JUNCTION CASE
ADJOURNED TO SATURDAY

Charges Against Hotelkeeper and Wife for Receiving Stolen Goods May Be Dropped Entirely.

Adjournment until tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock was taken in the case of the state of Wisconsin against Sam Gothompson and Ella Gothompson, set for hearing this morning in municipal court. The defendants are charged with knowingly receiving stolen goods, but the case may never come to trial. Gothompson and his wife, who are in charge of the St. Paul hotel at Milton Junction, bought a pair of cream from a young man that village, which, it is alleged, had been stolen. They pleaded not guilty when the case was called in the court here a week ago. It is said that the boy told them a lie in selling the cream to the defendants.

OBITUARY.

John B. Bradt, Sr. John B. Bradt, Sr., passed away this morning at nine o'clock at the home of his son in the town of Bradford. The deceased was seventy-nine years of age and had been a resident of Rock county for a number of years. The funeral will be held at two o'clock Sunday afternoon from the home.

John M. Donnelly. Yesterday afternoon at four o'clock the death angel entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Donnelly and took their eldest son, John M. Donnelly. The deceased was born in Janesville Sept. 23, 1889, and has been a member of the St. Aloysius society of St. Patrick's church, since he was twelve years old.

Hedra his sorrowing parents he leaves to mourn his loss three sisters, Misses Minnie and Dollie Donnelly, and Mrs. W. J. Collins; also one brother, Edward Donnelly, all of this city. His father, who had been in Omaha for the past three months in the interest of the Janesville Machine Company, arrived home just in time to see his son before he passed away. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at nine o'clock from St. Patrick's church.

Mrs. W. P. McBride. Milton, May 10.—Mrs. W. P. McBride died this morning after a brief illness. Deceased leaves a husband and three sons and three daughters. The funeral will be held at half past nine o'clock, Monday morning, at St. Mary's church, Milton Junction.

Thomas Quinn. There was a large gathering of relatives and friends at the funeral of Thomas Quinn, which was held this morning at nine o'clock from St. Patrick's church. There were many beautiful floral tributes. Father James J. McGinnity officiated and interment was made in Mt. Olivet cemetery. The pall-bearers were: William Sullivan, J. W. Kelley, J. Cummings, Ed. Sheridan, P. Dugan, and William Hughes.

British Target Practice. Although the conditions of target practice have been made more difficult for the gunner, the number of hits has increased in the British navy. The target, towed at an unknown speed, is 30 feet high by 90 feet long, the latter dimension being less than one-fifth the length of a modern battleship. During 1910 the 10 and 12-inch guns averaged 0.7 hits per minute against 0.9 four years ago. The 9.2-inch guns for the whole fleet averaged 2.01 hits; the 7.5-inch gun made 2.61 hits as against 1.68 made by this gun four years ago.

Quantity. "I've invented a new cocktail," "What's in it?" "Same as any other cocktail, only double the quantity."

LOCAL VETERANS TO BE AT DEDICATION

Delegation Left This Morning for Unveiling of Memorial to Wisconsin Soldiers at Vicksburg.

There will be a large delegation of Wisconsin veterans of the Civil war present at the unveiling of the memorial shaft erected to the Wisconsin soldiers who lost their lives at the siege of Vicksburg. The monument which will be erected on the Vicksburg battlefield cost $100,000 and the dedicatory ceremonies will be held on Monday, May 22, and will be participated in by both union and confederate soldiers.

Among the members of the local persons who left this morning for Chicago where they will leave this afternoon on a special train for Vicksburg, were: J. L. Bear, A. F. Hall, F. E. Lewis, Laban Fisher, and Capt. Percy Norcross. Mr. Bear and Mr. Fisher were in the siege; Mr. Lewis lost a brother, killed in the fight, and Mr. Hall and Capt. Norcross are both veterans of the late war but served in other commands.

There will be a special train-load of Wisconsin delegates, including Governor Francis E. McGovern, who will deliver an address. Miss Florence E. Wells, a graduate of the Milwaukee Normal, and of the University of Wisconsin, will do the unveiling, and Gov. F. E. Hall of the state of Mississippi will deliver an address. The veterans will leave Vicksburg on the morning of the 23rd and will arrive in Chicago on the 25th, visiting the scenes of the battles of Corinth and Shiloh on the return journey.

PRESIDENT DIAZ.
RESIGNATION MEANS PEACE.

The man who for so many years has ruled the destinies of Mexico, now states that he will resign when assured that anarchy will not follow on his laying down the reins of Government. Francisco Madero, the leader of the revolution, asserts that he hopes for almost immediate peace to follow. Others think that they see in Diaz' utterance a tricky sentence or two. Even if Madero were to end his part of the revolution, it is questionable if some of the tumultuous states in the South would become pacified, which, so it is hinted, gives Diaz an opportunity for making his equivocal promise.

Great Curtain Net Special

As a result of the lively ten days' sale recently held in the curtain section we accumulated a large number of remnants of nets up to five yards in length. To clean them up quickly we offer all of them, a great variety to choose from, at fifty cents on the dollar.

Undermuslins

Tomorrow is the last day of unusual bargain giving. Many women learned this week, had it brought forcibly to their attention, that it is really a losing game to have muslin underwear made at home.

If you want medium priced underwear that is good, we have it; if you want something a little extra, we have it; if you want, something exceptionally dainty and beautifully trimmed, we have it.

We brag on the workmanship of our goods and we control several of the leading lines for Janesville.

Wearing Apparel

The exceptionally warm weather of the last few days is making much activity in the garment section. Hot weather wearables are in demand. The Big Store is well equipped to supply your wants.

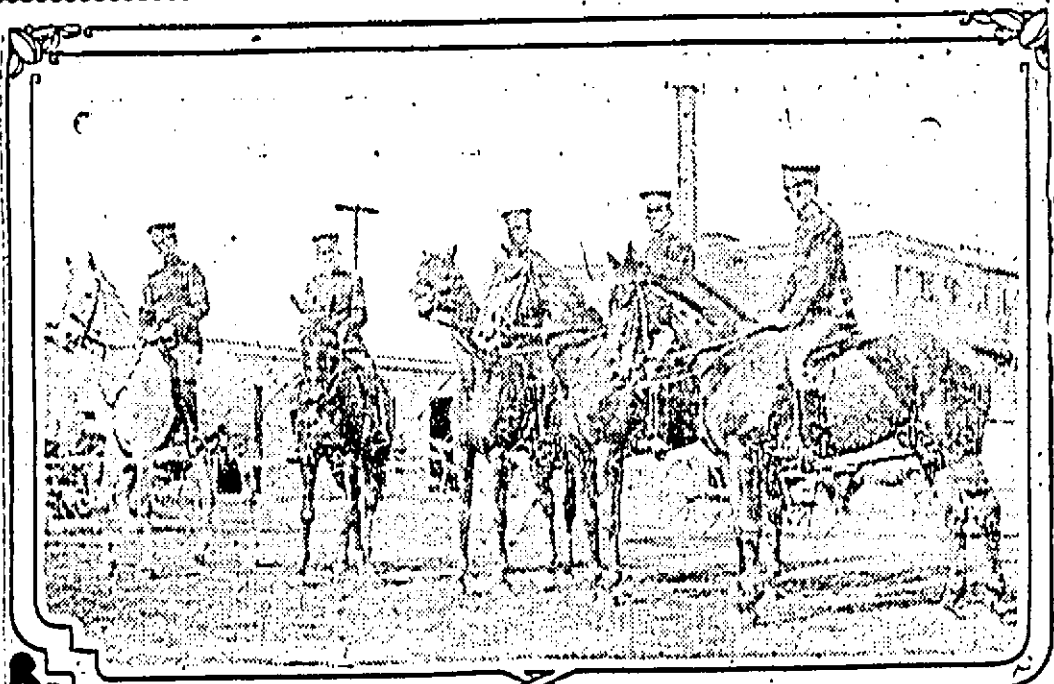

Special Prices Prevail Throughout the Ready to Wear Section

Everything is being offered at attractive figures. To do yourself justice, it is a necessity to get posted on the Big Store's showing of Coats, Rain Proof Garments, Silk Dresses, Muslin Dresses, Gingham Dresses, Wash Suits, Light Wool Skirts, etc.

THE SUPREME COURT DECISION.

In the light of cool and impartial judgment, the supreme court decision, on the Standard Oil case, is now being discussed by men interested in large corporations and, without exception, the court of last resort is commended for its action.

The Sherman law has long been the cause of unrest and litigation because of the latitude of construction, but the supreme court decision clears away the fog and recognizes the justice of reasonable combinations.

In the frenzied thought of over-wrought imagination, all combines had come to be regarded as illegal, and corporations of every nature were under the ban. The fact was overlooked that a corporation is simply a partnership on a larger scale, and while some of them enjoyed special privileges and were subject to regulation on that account, the great majority did not belong to this class.

But the late decision is so clear that it is easily understood, and men engaged in legitimate business have no occasion to fear. There are a few trusts, however, conducted under what is known as a gentleman's agreement, which need attention, for they restrict production to gain unreasonable profits.

In discussing the supreme court decision, W. C. Brown, president of the New York Central lines, says: "This is a strong and one of the most important decisions that the supreme court has been called upon to hand down. It emancipates the commercial interests of the country, while at the same time it fully safeguards every interest which needs the protection of the law."

"The industries of the United States will now have a free open to them to compete successfully in the markets of the world. The immediate effect may not perhaps be so striking, but the decision will have the effect of causing a small rivulet here and another there, which will eventually unite to form a large stream. The court has transformed the Sherman anti-trust law from an all but impossible into a practicable and constructive measure."

If the tariff question were also out of the way the commercial outlook would be entirely clear. If we could wake up some morning to find the tariff act passed we would probably not know the difference. As it is we have promise of a splendid wheat crop to help toward a pronounced improvement in business."

President Delano, of the Wabash railroad, considers the decision favorable in that it makes definite certain phases of the Sherman law about which there has been much uncertainty. "Another favorable feature," he said, "is that the decision establishes the fact that the supreme court is not in favor of property confiscation, as is evidenced by the extension of the time in which the decision may be complied with. The fact that combinations of interests are not a violation of the law provided they are not unreasonable, cannot have other than a good effect upon American business which has for a long time possessed the unavoidable economic tendency toward combination."

Walter G. Ockman, president of the Hudson Cos., and director of the Louisville & Nashville and the H. R. T. Cos., said: "I believe that the effect of the opinion will tend to relieve the commerce of the country and its productive energies of a restraint and apprehension which has been in effect for a long time. It is to be noted that the decision of the court has no intent to violate property rights."

THE SECOND AMENDMENT.

A forecast of the political history of the country, a dozen years hence, is cleverly portrayed in a novel, just out, which combines both love and politics, and has to do with men who are prominent in public life today. The book is good reading, and will be thoroughly enjoyed by American people. The publisher's notice follows:

"Although the Altruistic party—a creation in 'The Second Amendment,' Senator H. C. Hensbrough's new novel (The Hudson Publishing Co., Minneapolis)—may fall short of realization, the necessity for it is certainly very great if the things depicted in the story are founded on fact; and it must be assumed that the author, after twenty years of legislative experience in Washington, derived his impression sufficiently near at hand to know what he is writing about. The style is pleasing, the characters are strongly drawn and the theme is instructive. The unusual and striking feature of the tale lies in the facility with which Mr. Hensbrough has managed to keep his heroine, Edith Grey, with her back to the audience, and to completely lose his hero, Cornelius 'Twin,' during the greater part of the period of action, and yet have them dominate the entire drama. There are some vivid scenes in the senate, which is supposed to be a very staid body. It certainly required a deft senatorial hand to draw them."

Louis D. Brandeis, the Boston attorney who discovered that the railroads of the country were losing a million dollars a day through mismanagement, has tendered his services, gratuitously, to the government, and will be turned loose in the postoffice department to aid Secretary Dickinson in his efforts to economize. It is just possible that a number of large rat holes will be discovered, and that employees will not be held responsible for all the shortages.

If it were possible to eliminate politics from business, the outlook would never be more promising than at the present time. A bountiful harvest is practically assured and money for all legitimate lines of business was never more abundant. The spirit of hysteria, caused by an overdose of agitation, is abating, and in era of sanity has already dawned. Politics is the only disturbing element.

The city of Emporia, Kansas, is in the midst of a street railway, and is seeking the aid of outside capital. The little western city is the home of William Allen White, of national fame as a writer. Mr. White has been busy denouncing corporations and public utility companies, and Emporia is likely to travel on foot for some time to come, as outside money is shy.

The contractor and building trades unions of Chicago have settled their differences by creating a permanent peace board. The action is wise and should be generally adopted. The interests of employer and employee are mutual and differences should be peacefully adjusted.

Heat prostrations in May are out of the ordinary, yet they have been of daily occurrence for the past week, in the large cities.

Between the Illinois legislature and the United States senate, the Lormer case has become a continuous performance.

If the income tax bill, now pending at Madison, becomes a law, there will be but few exceptions.

THE POET PHILOSOPHER
(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams.)
By WALT MAEON.

I have read a million stories published, yet genuine episodes of haven't seen a villain worth a thinker's ribald jests. He's a milk and water villain, is the modern, cheap John.

THE OLD TIME VILLAIN: you'd mistake him for the hero if he had a bath and shave. I am yearning for the villain of the olden, golden time, who would tighten his suspenders and go wading deep in crime. He would murder folks for vengeance, he would slaughter them for cash, and his eyes shot baleful glances, and he had a black mustache. He was modeled after Manfred, on whom Byron placed a wreath, and when nothing else was doing he was gnashing of his teeth, and he uttered bitter curses, and he moved around in gloom, and he kept the houses busy haunting people to the tomb. He would attack you with a dagger, he would brain you with his staff, and he always did his murders with a loud and needless laugh. For a time the villain triumphed, as a villain always should, and he seemed to have a toe-hold on the hero, truly good; but the good old-fashioned devil always ended right side up, and it left the villain grinding retribution from a cyp.

O the good old swarthy villain of the good old breezy days! He and all his gifted authors long ago have gone their ways!

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

DO NOT WAHLE.

A popular writer characterizes a certain class of persons as "wabble folks."

You know the type. They are the sort who dodge responsibility, slide from under an obligation and squirm out of a promise.

Many politicians are of the wabble pattern.

Many men fail to succeed in business because of the oscillating disposition. All commerce is founded on confidence—the confidence reposed by one person in the promise of another, whether the promise be fulfilled or by word of mouth or written. He who betrays this confidence disqualifies himself.

It is not too harsh to say of such persons—men or women—that they are "all for treason, stratagem and spells." It is the wabble people mostly who keep the divorce courts busy. The marriage compact, by which the family is maintained and civilization is built, falls to hold them.

Wabble folks lack moral fiber. The species needs to be caught while young and tamed by discipline. Teach the child that it should be slow to make a promise, but that, having made one, it must be kept inviolate, even though the heavens fall.

Teach the child that it is no excuse to say of a broken pledge, "I meant it when I said it." Teach the child that to fail of a promise is the worst sort of lying.

Who is more admirable than the man who stands four square to all the winds that blow?

The dependable man will keep his obligation though to do so may require deprivation or hardship.

Martin Luther was of that sort.

When his friends besought him to forego his trip to the diet of Worms because of the enemies who threatened his life he said, "I will go to Worms though there be as many devils as the tiles on the housetops."

He kept his word.

And when he had spoken what was in him, knowing well the consequences of his frankness, he solemnly said: "Here I stand. I can do no other. God help me."

You do not need to be of Luther's kind of religion to admire his sturdy loyalty.

There is something approaching to heroism in the man who will suffer rather than break a pledge.

In these days men are seldom called upon to die for the sake of honor, but there are those who would do so if necessary rather than wabble through life, craven and a recreant.

PLEADS GUILTY TO KIDNAPING.

Will Rogers Admits Stealing Grandson of Henry L. Waldorf.

Las Vegas, N. M., May 19.—Will Rogers pleaded guilty to the charge of kidnapping Walter Rogers, the grandson of Henry L. Waldorf, general solicitor of the Atchafalaya, Tonoloway & Santa Fe railroad. Joe Wiggins, an executive and alleged accomplice of Rogers in the kidnapping, pleaded not guilty.

Japs to Build Dreadnaught.

Tokyo, Japan, May 19.—The Japanese government has decided to build a new dreadnaught cruiser of 25,000 tons, a sister ship of the one already ordered in England.

Wood-Splitting Contest.

Three of the Hyer brothers attempted to break the record for cutting and splitting wood made several years ago by members of their family. The contest took place at Cortland. The record of the elder brothers was 20 cords in 9 hours and 20 minutes. Saturday's work resulted in 19½ cords in 9 hours and 30 minutes.—Dryden Herald.

Too Personal.

A young man who was to be married in church to a Miss Way, after a courtship of four years, privately requested the choir not to open the service by singing "This is the way I long have sought."

Song of the Vineyard. (A Temperance Lesson.) Isa. vi:1-12.

Golden Text—Woe unto them that are mighty to drink wine, and men of strength to mingle strong drink. Isa. vi:22.

(1.) Verse 1—The Lord here in a parable of a vineyard, recounts His dealings with Judah and Israel, in what respects is the parable appropriate?

(2.) Verses 2-4—What had God done for his ancient people that he had not done for any other nation?

(3.) What was the nature of the land which God gave them?

(4.) What was the nature of the laws under which God placed them?

(5.) What was the nature of the promises God gave them?

(6.) What personal relation did God sustain towards them?

(7.) What had God a right to expect from them?

(8.) Can you suggest anything which God could have done for them better than he did?

(9.) As a matter of fact what returns did they make to God for all his care over them?

(10.) Verses 6-7—What did God do to the Jews, and to their chief city?

(11.) What has been the condition of the Jews for the past nineteen hundred years?

(12.) Can you name any nation that has been sinful and successful, for any great length of time?

(13.) What are the chances for business success as between two men of equal ability and opportunity, one a good and the other a bad man?

(14.) Verses 8-10—What in the moral character and tendency, of the so-called combine?

(15.) How do you class those men whose chief ambition is to "join house to house, that lay field to field," that they may be rich men?

(16.) Contrast the domestic happiness, in the mansions of the rich and the cottages of wage earners, who are Christians, and say which enjoys the greater.

(17.) Verses 11-12—Name some of our outstanding national sins, and say which is the greatest of them.

(18.) Which works the ruin of a man, or a nation, in the shortest time, avarice or sensuality?

(19.) What is the influence of strong drink upon those who take it habitually?

(20.) Do you know any and is it possible, that one may drink steadily and still be a clear thinker and a good man?

(21.) What is the general effect of moderate drinking?

(22.) If the manufacture and sale of strong drink were to be made illegal what effect would it have upon domestic happiness and moral character? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

SON SLAYS FATHER AT LATTER'S ORDER

CRAZED FATHER FORCES BOY TO PULL TRIGGER OF GUN THAT KILLS HIM.

SENDS HIS WIFE ON ERRAND

Prosperous New England Farmer Awakens After Dream and Pre-vents Upon Lead to Discharge Weapon—His Head Is Blown Off.

Greenwich, Conn., May 10.—Spurred by a mad impulse to carry out in all its horrible details a dream of suicide, Fred Husted of this city made a partridge of his twelve-year-old son Lester, but so remarkably was the story told by the boy that the coroner adjudged Husted a suicide and held that the son only unwittingly, through blind obedience, made possible the realization of the dream-tragedy.

After years of full Husted had just succeeded in paying off the mortgage on his 80-acre farm, for which he recently refused an offer of $80,000. Recently he has been ill from grip. He awoke from a nap, during which he had had a frightful dream. The combined effect is thought to have temporarily crazed him.

Sends Wife From Home. Sending his wife on an errand to a neighbor's house, Husted called to his oldest son, Lester, that he was going to shoot hawks which had attacked the chickens. Picking up his double-barreled shotgun, which was always kept loaded, he laid it on the kitchen table and directed the lad to pull the trigger. Lester hesitated, as his father knelt on the opposite side of the table, looking directly into the muzzle, with his eye only four inches away. Finally the boy snapped the trigger, when his father insisted that the gun was not loaded, but the lad held the trigger with his finger and there was no explosion.

Father Is Instantly Killed. The father then arose, again cocked the gun and assured the lad the gun was not loaded. The man dropped to his knees again and ordered the boy to pull the trigger "to see how it sounds." The lad did so and the man dropped dead instantly, the whole left side of his head blown off.

Horror-stricken, the lad rushed to a neighbor's house and told what had happened. The coroner rendered a verdict of suicide.

BLAMES BURNS FOR DYNAMITING

Iron Worker, In Confession, Also Involves Erectors' Association.

Pittsburg, May 10.—James Elliott, a structural iron worker, who says that he has been employed by Detective W. J. Burns of the National Detective agency, made an affidavit at the Labor temple before the officers of the Structural Iron Workers' union, in which he implicated Detective Burns, Walter Drow, a New York attorney and secretary of the National Erectors' association; John Bushy, local representative of the National Erectors' association, and William Tannev, owner of a local detective agency, in dynamiting plots.

The sum of Elliott's confession is that Detective Burns was employed by the National Erectors' association to destroy property belonging to them which had been erected by non-union labor and do it in such a way that it would appear to have been done by union men.

The object of all the dynamiting cases was to arouse the people of the country in such a way that the Structural Iron Workers' union would be injured.

HOST IS BAREFOOT AT DINNER. Millionaire Also Greeted Guests in His Underclothing; Will Broken.

New York, May 10.—A dinner party at which the millionaire host came to the table in his bare feet and underclothing figured prominently in the trial to break the will of Alexander Miller. Miller left his wife $12,500 and the balance of his big estate to his brother, Gordon Miller, and two sisters. Witnesses also testified that Miller danced around the library with a glass bowl on his head, peeled fruit and threw the parings at the portraits of his ancestors and hugged his wife on the street. His will was set aside.

Oklahoma Editors Convene.

Chickasha, Okla., May 10.—What promises to be one of the biggest and best meetings ever held by the Oklahoma Press association was called to order here today by President J. P. Renfrew of the Alva Record. Renfrew heartily welcomed the visiting editors and Lathur Harrison of Wetumka responded, after which Mr. Renfrew delivered his annual address. A talk by T. A. McNeal, state printer of Kansas, ended the morning program. In the afternoon addresses were made by L. J. Wortham of Fort Worth, Tex., and E. M. Kerr of the Muskogee Times-Democrat, and poems were read by P. P. Duffy of El Reno and C. H. Douglas of Muskogee.

Indiana U. C. T. Council Meets on Boat.

Madison, Ind., May 10.—The annual meeting of the Grand Council of Indiana, United Commercial Travelers, which opened here today, is made notable by the presence of Supreme Past Counselor W. D. Murphy, Supreme Secretary Charles C. Daniel and about 700 members of the order. The entertainment features are being held on board the Island Queen, one of the handsomest boats that float the Ohio river.

William's Whiskers. With most men, the beard is a danger on the right side.

MAYOR HELD AS AN EMBEZZLER.

Perjury and Malfeasance Also Charged Against Gary (Ind.) Head.

Gary, Ind., May 10.—Mayor Thomas E. Knotts of Gary, already under indictment by the Lake county grand jury, was arrested last night by deputy sheriffs of Hammond on warrants sworn out in County Clerk Shortridge's office at Crown Point, charging him with embezzlement, perjury and malfeasance in office.

City Clerk Harry L. Moore of Gary filed an affidavit in the circuit court charging Knotts with embezzling approximately $2,000, said to have been collected by him while serving as judge in the city court and which he failed to turn into the city treasurer's office, according to City Treasurer Simpson.

STOCKYARDS DAMAGED BY FIRE.

Pens Covering Area Block Square and 1,000 Sheep Are Burned.

Kansas City, Mo., May 10.—Fire, which for an hour, endangered the entire Kansas City stockyards and the Live Stock Exchange building, destroyed sheep pens covering an area a block square, burned 1,000 sheep and partly destroyed two mile barns. The old American Royal Live Stock pavilion also was in the path of the flames, but was saved. A new fire station in the course of construction in the stockyards district was partly destroyed.

Sparks from the burning pens set fire to a school building five blocks away. The pupils already had been dismissed. The school building was saved.

The damage is estimated at less than $50,000.

TO STRENGTHEN SHERMAN LAW.

Core Amendment Provides Jail Sentences and Bars "Reasonable."

Washington, May 10.—Jail sentences of from two to ten years for those found guilty of contracts or combinations in restraint of trade are provided in an amendment to the Sherman anti-trust law proposed by Senator Gore of Oklahoma. The proposed amendment also would narrow the law so as to make it hold that no contract or combination in restraint of trade of "whatever kind or character" should be adjudged to be "reasonable." It was referred to the committee on interstate commerce.

COHALAN TO SUCCEED O'GORMAN

Tammany Man Nominated by Gov. Dix for Supreme Court Bench.

Albany, N. Y., May 10.—Daniel F. Cohalan, chief adviser to Tammany Chief Charles F. Murphy, will succeed James A. O'Gorman upon the supreme court bench. Governor Dix sent his nomination to the senate and it was reported favorably by the committee on finance. It is believed the nomination will be confirmed.

Death Rate in New York Lower.

New York, May 10.—That New York city is becoming each year more of a health resort is indicated by a statement from the office of the health commissioner, based on a comparison of the death rates for many years. It is shown that the rate is steadily decreasing, reaching a minimum of 17 per 1,000 for the first three months of 1911, against 17.45 in 1910. The decrease this year is equivalent to the saving of 6,500 lives.

Death Takes Gustav Mahler.

Vienna, May 10.—Gustav Mahler, the eminent composer and conductor, died here. He had been under the care of specialists for months. His ailment was angina pectoris, which became complicated by blood poisoning.

ASSESSOR TAKEN FOR BRIBERY.

Oakland, Cal., Official Charged With Having $5,000 Marked Bills.

Oakland, Cal., May 10.—Henry P. Dalton, county assessor of Alameda county, was arrested here while leaving a cafe where it is declared he met a high official of the Spring Valley Water company. District Attorney W. H. Donahue is authority for the statement that $5,000 in marked bills were taken from Dalton following his arrest. Dalton is charged with accepting a bribe to reduce the company's assessment.

Dalton's case will be presented to the grand jury. Evidence will be offered, Mr. Donahue said, tending to show a proposed reduction of $2,500,000 in the assessed valuations of the Spring Valley company.

WATERMELONS BREAK RECORD.

Shipped Earlier and for Higher Price From Candler, Fla.

Candler, Fla., May 10.—The first car of this season's watermelons was loaded here for New York markets. It broke two records. The price it brought is $400 and this is the earliest date at which melons have ever been shipped from here.

Coupon Foes Lose Fight.

Springfield, Ill., May 10.—There will be no anti-trading stamp legislation enacted by the Forty-seventh general assembly. This was made known when the senate judiciary committee reported out with an unfavorable recommendation of Representative Hagen's anti-trading stamp bill. The committee recommended to the senate that the bill be tabled.

Predicts Big Wheat Crop.

Portland, Ore., May 10.—The Commercial Review of this city says that the outlook for a bumper wheat crop in the Pacific northwest is favorable.

The Difference.

Opportunity knocks once; incompetency knocks all the time.—George Horace Lorimer.

THREE INJURED BY TORNADO.

Disastrous Storm Visits Dell Rapids, S. D.—Cellars Save Population.

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 10.—A disastrous tornado visited the country in the vicinity of Dell Rapids, S. D., 16 miles north of this city, injuring three persons and destroying at least a dozen buildings, most of these farm-houses.

In Dell Rapids nearly the entire population sought refuge in cellars and in this manner avoided injury.

CHOOSE CARSON AS MODERATOR.

Presbyterian General Assembly Selects Brooklynite for Presiding Officer.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 10.—Rev. John P. Carson of Brooklyn was elected moderator of the Presbyterian church on the second ballot by the general assembly in its one hundred and twenty-third session here.

The vote was: Doctor Carson, 454; Dr. Mark Allison Matthews of Seattle, Wash., 218; Rev. Dr. Frederick Hinatt, Danville, Ky., 126.

Annie Wakeman Lathrop Dead.

London, England, May 10.—Mrs. Annie Wakeman Lathrop, wife of Lorin A. Lathrop, American consul at Cardiff, Wales, is dead. Mrs. Lathrop came to England in 1883 as the correspondent of the Boston Herald and later contributed regularly to the Chicago Tribune, Philadelphia Record and San Francisco Chronicle. Her active life broke her health.

French Defeat Morocco Tribes.

Paris, May 10.—Advises received at the ministry of war state that a French detachment was attacked by Moroccan tribesmen near Dohden during a fog Tuesday. The enemy was repulsed, but two French officers were killed and twelve men killed or wounded.

Cremation Bill Passes in Diet.

Berlin, Germany, May 10.—The Prussian diet passed the second reading of the government's bill legalizing cremation. The clerical party opposed the legislation as giving countenance to an un-Christian practice.

Egotistical Englishman.

The inordinate egotism of the English race is exemplified by the continually increasing output of portraits. In all the principal exhibitions they monopolize an unduly large proportion of the wall space, and of recent years they have overflowed into exhibitions exclusively reserved for this branch of art.—The Counsellor.

Labor Before Repose.

Everyone who wishes to attain to the rest of contemplation must first diligently lead a life of labor. Remember that true repose is the product of the exercise of virtues, as fruits are formed from flowers.—St. Bernard.

STOUGHTON LEADS IN INTER-HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL WITH 800

With Palmyra Playing At Milton This Afternoon Has A Good Lead In Percentage.

(Special to the Gazette.)
Stoughton, Wis., May 10.—Averages of the inter-high school baseball league to date show Stoughton leading the list. The averages are the following:

Clubs	W.	L.	P.	P.C.
Stoughton	4	1	5	.800
Milton	3	1	4	.750
Whitewater	1	1	2	.500
Algerton	0	2	2	.000
Palmyra	0	2	2	.000

Palmyra plays at Milton this afternoon.

Interest in Princeton Regatta.
Princeton, N. J., May 10.—Lovers of aquatic sports are displaying keen interest in the intercollegiate regatta to be rowed here on Lake Carnegie tomorrow. The race will be a triangular affair, with the varsity crews of Yale, Cornell and Princeton as the contestants. It will be the first intercollegiate rowing event in which Princeton has taken part since 1884, when the first meeting of the Yale and Cornell crews in many years. The course over which the race will be rowed is only one and three-quarter miles, which is regarded as an advantage to the Princeton crewmen, as they

New England Intercollegiate Meet.

Springfield, Mass., May 10.—Star athletes from fourteen colleges assembled here today to compete for the championship titles in the annual meet of the New England Intercollegiate Athletic Association. The contests began this afternoon on Pratt Field, the new athletic grounds of the Springfield Training School. The final events will be contested tomorrow.

Chicago, Ill.—When Manager Chance asked waiters on pitchers Pfister and Roubach, he was surprised to find them both having shown up poorly. It was expected that Chance would shake up this department, but it was thought that Roubach would be carried regardless of his poor showing because of his unusually strong showing two years ago when he won fourteen games in succession. Among the fans it is a current belief that the nature of a bluff to force Roubach into condition.

have trained for this distance only, while Yale and Cornell have had to train for the four mile races which they will row later on at New London and Poughkeepsie.

WATERTOWN PLAYS JANSVILLE SUNDAY

Crack Team From Jefferson County to Meet Locals at the Fair Grounds Sunday Afternoon.

Watertown will be the next opponent of the Janesville team at the diamond at the fair grounds on Sunday afternoon, weather permitting. The Watertown team is the strongest aggregation with whom Manager Green has thus far looked a game. Watertown has an all-around team of considerable strength and some lively sport is promised in the coming contest. The batteries for Watertown are Mieritzke and Hallert. The pitcher for the visitors is a southpaw and has speed and curves. When his control is good, Mieritzke is said to be a hitless wonder, his batters completely baffling the batters. Brown has an able staff of players to match against the men from Watertown. Peterson, one of the star pitchers in the Lake Shore league last season, will be here and may occupy the mound for Janesville. If not, he will undoubtedly be given a place in the outfield. Smith or Butters, both able twirlers, will be the second choice in case Peterson does not go in the box. Cronin will play behind the bat. Manley, who pitched here a few years ago, will be given a tryout in the outfield, and Kenney, another clever pitcher, will also be a candidate for a place on the team.

Railroad Increases Stock.
New York, May 9.—At a meeting here today the stockholders of the Lake Erie and Pittsburgh railroad voted to increase the company's stock from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000 and also authorized a large issue of bonds. The issue of stock and bonds is regarded as largely a bookkeeping transaction to take care of advances that have been made to the Lake Erie and Pittsburgh, all the stock of which is owned by the Pennsylvania and Lake Shore roads.

To Honor Memory Of L'Enfant.
Washington, D. C., May 10.—President Taft, Cardinal Gibbons, Ambassador Jusserand of France and Senator Elihu Root will be among the prominent participants in the ceremonies at the unveiling of the L'Enfant memorial in Arlington next Monday. The monument to honor the memory of Major L'Enfant, the young French engineer who drew the plans for the city of Washington, was crystallized two years ago when congress appropriated funds for the disinterment of L'Enfant's body from its grave in Prince Georges county, Maryland, and its reburial in the national cemetery at Arlington. The various patriotic societies of Washington will have charge of the monument erected over the grave in Arlington.

Little Bed-Time Tales By EDITH HAVENS

The Doll

THERE was much excitement in Tot-Town the land of a thousand children, because it had been advertised that Professor Kindheart, the great man who loved children, was coming to town.

The little folks from far and near were delighted because they had often heard great stories about him and now that they were really going to see him—why it seemed almost too wonderful to be true. The day before his arrival a big platform had been built in the center of the public square, for he was to make an address to the children and wanted a place so as all could hear him talk. And then came the long expected day.

For miles around the little boys and girls poured into the center of the town and when the big smiling faced man alighted from the train at the Tot-Town depot he was greeted by hundreds of little people.

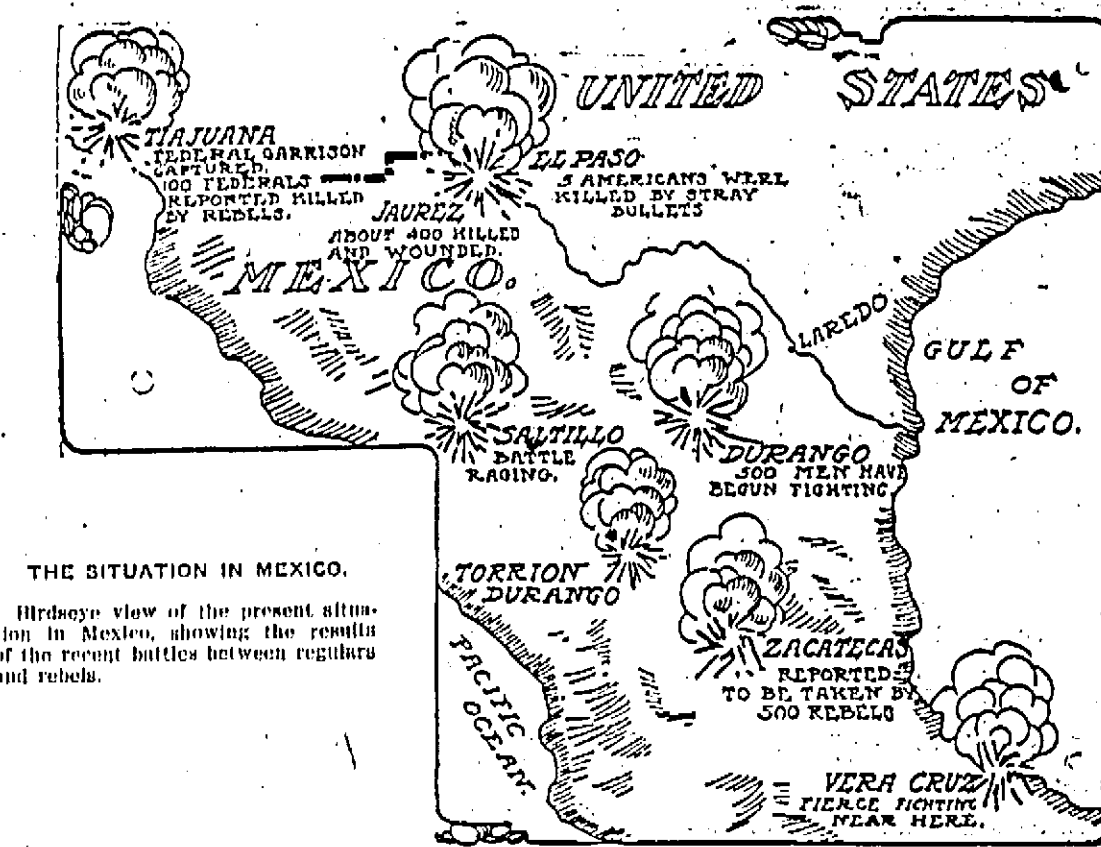

Amid cheers he was carried away to the platform in the square, where thousands of boys and girls were gathered, some of them crying and some laughing.

How they cheered him! And then the Professor came forward to the edge of the platform with a large bundle in his hand and suddenly children waited with wonder. And little army of people became hushed.

The good man began to speak.

"I am very happy to be able to talk to all you little folks," he began, "because I love you all very much. Some little boys and girls are really and truly very good children only they are apt to be just a bit careless and they forget sometimes. I am going to talk especially to those children."

He paused a moment as he began to fessor Kindheart came to town things untie the great bundle while all the children waited with wonder. And child who lives there is just as kind as possibly could be.

THE U. P. DOUBLE-TRACK PLAN

Plans Made Assure That Work Will Begin at Several Places in the West This Spring.

Plans for the double tracking of the Harriman system from the Missouri river to the Pacific coast, recently authorized by the directors, have been completed, and preparations are under way to begin the work.

The work will begin at a number of places at the same time. One stretch will be from Benicia, Cal., to Sacramento, about 60 miles. About the heaviest traffic on the Southern Pacific goes over that piece of track. Filling this gap will give a double track from San Francisco to Colfax. The facilities of the ferry at Benicia also will be doubled to accommodate the increased traffic.

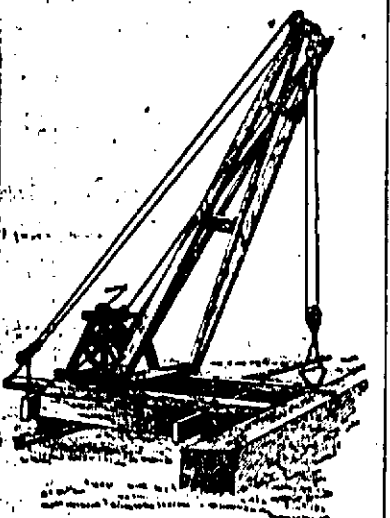

Another stretch will be at the end of the Salt Lake cut-off. In connection with it there will be some changes of the line and reduction of grades, which will improve the train landing on the Central Pacific. The road will build a low grade line up the mountain and use the present high grade line for the down-train.

The Union Pacific will be double-tracked from Julesburg, Col., west about 100 miles, and from Ogden to Farmington, Utah. It is already double-tracked from Farmington to Salt Lake City.

MAKES WORK MUCH EASIER

Push Car Derrick Lightens the Labor of Bridge Gangs Working on Railroad Lines.

The bridge gangs of the Chicago & Illinois Eastern railroad use a little push car derrick that is a giant in the work it accomplishes. The arm is guided by ropes in preference to rods, and the hand hoist is anchored down to the rail by means of a chain and hook; the latter tightly gripping the rail flange, so that danger of tipping is done away with.—Popular Mechanics.

Kept on Knocking.

"Congregations are getting more superstitious in little things," said the minister. "At every sermon I have preached in the last six months I have been annoyed by somebody in the congregation knocking wood. Sometimes I can hear a little chorus of taps coming from different parts of the church, again I can only see the motion of their hands, but I know they are knocking on wood just the same. Every time I give thanks for any good fortune that has attended us superstitious parishioners knock on the back of the pew for it to continue. Two weeks ago I preached a scathing sermon on the foolish superstitions of the age, but I guess it didn't hit the bullseye, for when I thanked Heaven that after all our church had been spared some of the superstitions that had rent other congregations asunder half the people in the house knocked wood."

Gauge of Chinese Railroads.

Speaking generally, China has adopted the British railroad gauge, that is, four feet eight and a half inches, but she is apparently not insisting upon this. The Chentai line in Yunnan has used the meter gauge, and the Kwangsi authorities appear to have determined to break away from what is supposed to be the standard and have either the meter or a narrow gauge instead. The eventual conversion of these lines will be an expensive business, and China has no money to waste.—National Review.

Dining Car Service in India.

Dining car waiters on railroads in India are barefooted natives, in long white gowns held in at the waist by a broad band, their heads wrapped up in puggarees (a light scarf). The dinner service is rough and coarse, and the price higher than in this country. Most of the food served comes in tins. Between courses dishes are piled on the floor. India is a land of contrasts, and this contrast between the dirty black feet and the dirty white dishes is one of the things to which the traveler gets accustomed, but never reconciled.

Dear Trained for Harness.

Probably the only team of trained deer in the United States is the one owned by Frank Clemens. They were captured in the northern part of Bonner county when small and are now eight months old. They are well broken to drive, and when hitched to the sled can make a trip to the Great Northern depot as quickly as any team.—Sandpoint Correspondence Spokane Herald.

Attentive Husband.

Rev. E. D. Upson is spending a few days at the lake.

J. L. Wolfen was the guest of C. H. Hunt, Tuesday.

Miss Ethel Winter went yesterday to attend the Epworth League convention at Madison.

Braco Rollins and Edworth Mueller were in New Glarus yesterday.

The local high school baseball team played the Evansville high school team at Evansville this afternoon.

Crew Made Gallant Fight.

Three weeks' fighting in mid-ocean with a cargo of burning wheat was the experience of the crew of the steamship Folbridge, which arrived in the Thames at London, England, recently from the River Plate. On taking off the hatch one day the captain discovered the bags of grain on fire. Gallant efforts were made to subdue the flames, but in vain. Then 100 bags of flour were taken from another part of the ship and packed into the burning hold to about two inches from the top, and the hose was applied so as to make the flour into a stiff paste. This made the hold practically air tight, and by covering the hatch with oilskins and plying the hose on them the crew kept the fire under control until they reached port.

Universal Habit of Wastefulness.

We have not yet organized our economic life with sufficient reference to the poor. A French family of very small income can and will get along well on a very small part of what an American family of the same size requires. We lack thrift—not only thrift in the buying and the use of food, but a corresponding cheapness in growing it, in transporting it, in marketing it, in distributing it. Waste—a habit of wastefulness, even a universal habit of wastefulness—that's our trouble; and it takes many forms. The thriftiest poor family must live ill in New York on an income that the same family would live very well on in Paris or in most continental cities. The whole organization of our life is wasteful.

Relic of Ancient Egypt.

The British museum possesses a chair—the throne of Queen Hatshepsut—which was in use some 3,500 years ago.

Hosiery Mills May Curtail.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 19.—Manufacturers of hosiery and underwear in all parts of the country are looking forward with interest to the annual meeting of the National Association of Hosiery and Underwear Manufacturers of hosiery and underwear to be held in New York City May 22 to 26 inclusive. The unusual interest manifested is due to the peculiar and highly unsatisfactory situation in the hosiery and underwear manufacturing industry. The material falling off in the demand for the manufactured products has made it practically imperative for the manufacturers to curtail the production. But many of the manufacturers are not following the same course. It is expected that the situation will be thoroughly discussed at the meeting next week and it is hoped that a general agreement will be reached among the members with a view of reducing the production during the present depression of the hosiery trade.

President Hears Danish Singers.

Washington, D. C., May 19.—A chorus of fifty students, comprising the finest voices among the members of the Danish Student Singers' Society of Copenhagen, and including several artists from the Royal Danish Opera in Copenhagen, furnished a musical entertainment of rare merit to President Taft and the large number of invited guests who attended the specially arranged garden party in the White House grounds today. The student singers, who are now touring this country under the auspices of the Danish-American Association, arrived in New York a few days ago and, after a short rest, came to Washington upon invitation of President Taft, extended through the Danish minister, Count Carl von Moltke. Among the soloists are Hilde Nissen and O. Holboell, both of the Royal Danish Opera, and H. S. Løvsgaard, also of the Royal Danish Opera, is their conductor.

Oklahoma Press Association.

Chickasha, Okla., May 19.—Several hundred of the editors of Oklahoma newspapers were in attendance at the opening session of the twentieth annual meeting of the Oklahoma Press Association, which convened here today for a two-day session. After the visiting members had been duly welcomed and had responded to the hearty welcome through their spokesman, Luther Harrison of Wetumka, President J. P. Bonfroy read his annual address. The rest of the session was devoted to routine business and several interesting addresses on professional subjects. The session will close tomorrow with an auto tour and a baseball game between Republicans and Democrats of the association. On Sunday the editors will go by special train to Lawton, to inspect the site of the proposed home for Oklahoma newspaper men at Medicine Park, in the Wichita Mountains.

Seattle to Welcome Gov. Wilson.

Seattle, Wash., May 19.—Arrangements have been completed for the reception and entertainment of Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, who is to arrive in this city tomorrow for a visit of several days. Governor Wilson will speak at a public meeting arranged by the Princeton men of Seattle and vicinity. The Seattle Press Club will give a reception in his honor.

Chinese troops have taken the field in a determined effort to put down the uprising. Villages have been pillaged and burned and much damage wrought through the entire province.

Furniture Hint.
The bluish cast that comes on highly polished furniture in damp weather can be removed by wiping the furniture with lukewarm water in which there is a tablespoonful of ammonia to a gallon of water. Dry the furniture thoroughly and heat the room, if possible, for the dampness of the room is what causes it and plainly indicates that the room must be dried out in some manner.

Make the Most of Everything.
A man who knows the world will not only make the most of everything he does know, but of many things he does not know; and will gain more credit by his adroit mode of hiding ignorance than the pedant by his awkward attempt to exhibit his erudition. —Colton.

Flute Buried With Owner.
A pathetic little incident marked the burial of Mr. Charles Hunt, who died at Acton, England, a few days ago. During his lifetime Mr. Hunt had been a passionate lover of music, and possessed no little talent for flute playing. After his death his friends placed his well-loved flute, a fine instrument, nearly a yard long, with silver mountings, in the coffin beside him.

Aeroplane in Hindu Mythology.
Hindu belief and lore still strongly hold that aerial navigation is not the new thing that it is claimed to be in Europe. It is said that aeroplanes of some sort or other were the conveyances ordinarily used by the Devas (heavenly beings) of Hindu mythology.

It Rolled Off.
A young man called on a doctor, complaining of pains in his stomach. The doctor diagnosed the case as dyspepsia, and advised the patient to go home and try a pickle. If he could keep that on his stomach he was to report to the doctor in the morning. The next day the patient returned, and when the doctor asked him if he could keep the pickle on his stomach, he replied: "I could as long as I stayed awake, but when I fell asleep it rolled off."

MILTON SENIORS TO GIVE COMEDY DRAMA

Simpson's "Scrap of Paper," May 25—Other Notes of Interest in and About Milton.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milton, May 19.—The senior class of Milton high school has chosen as its annual class play, "A Scrap of Paper," a comic drama in three acts by J. P. McGraw.

The play is to be presented at the Village hall, Thursday evening, May 25. The cast of characters is as follows:

Prosper Courmont.....Don Jordan
Helen Glaciere.....Floyd Glynn
Helen Glaciere.....Claude Gifford
Annette.....John Langston
Napoleon.....Joe Garlick
Frances.....George Garlick
Baroness Glaciere.....Edith Maxwell
Suzanne Russell.....Eola Clirwright
Mathilde.....Lillian Summerfelt
Lionelle.....Lillian Summerfelt
Madame Dupont.....Helen Lawton
Pauline.....Emma Wells

The trustees of Milton college have decided to make physical exercises compulsory in the several courses, and to employ a director for this purpose. A body of scenic painters is also at work on the stage in the gymnasium, fitting the place out with a set of very good interior and exterior scenes.

There will be no Memorial day address here. The ritualistic service and decorating ceremony will be conducted by the G. A. R. and W. I. C. at the cemetery in the forenoon, and at Milton Junction in the afternoon.

Northwest La Prairie. May 18.—Mrs. R. E. Wilcox and daughter, Leta, drove to Beloit Saturday afternoon for a visit at the home of Mrs. A. Landerson, a sister of Mrs. Wilcox.

Miss Grace Hall spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Hall.

Mr. Rice of Milton, is spending the week with his son, Colon, and assisting him with his farm work.

Miss Nora Davis closed a successful year of school work near Durand, Ill., Friday, May twelfth, and returned home Saturday.

Mr. Ludwig and family of Beloit, moved to John Hunsdon's tenant house Saturday.

Harley Arnold of Broadhead, was a Sunday visitor at Mr. S. Hall's.

William Campbell returned to his home at Spring Grove, Illinois, Saturday.

Marie Hendrickson was home from Fort Atkinson for a brief visit Sunday evening.

Rock Prairie. May 18.—Agnes Logan and Alexander McLean, Jr., who have been in Illinois for several weeks past, are again at home.

Bert Austin has recently made a large shipment of fat cattle to the Chicago market.

James Childs, who has been confined to his home for several weeks with stomach trouble, and who is now in the hospital in Janesville, is not making as rapid recovery as was hoped for.

N. Anderson is at Whitewater, where he was suddenly called to see his aged mother, who is ill and not expected to recover.

Frank Arnold's younger children have been quite sick but are showing some signs of improvement.

The work of corn planting has been making good progress.

Mrs. Win. Childs has not been feeling so well of late. Both Mr. and Mrs. Childs expect to leave for Portland, Ore., the last of the month, in hopes of improving Mrs. Childs' health, as she has been quite poorly for more than a year.

Mr. and Mrs. James McGowan, two of the very oldest residents of the county, still retain their strength to a remarkable degree. Mrs. McGowan has not been so well, however, during the past week.

Committees are at work preparing for the Sunday school picnic in the near future.

Grace and Agnes McLean, students of the Janesville high school, are now at home with the measles.

JOHNSTOWN. May 18.—Miss Agnes Logan returned home Saturday from an extended visit with Ohio relatives.

Prod Gertler has been sick the past week with neuralgia.

Mrs. Sylvester Morgan of Janesville is at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. W. Wilbur, for a few months.

N. Anderson was called to Whitewater, Wednesday, to see his aged mother, who is very low.

The school entertainment will be given Tuesday evening, May 30, at the school house.

Willie Anderson went to Lima, Thursday evening, to write for a diploma.

O. Cogswell of Lima was here, Wednesday, doing some work on his lot at the cemetery.

We are glad to see Mrs. Margaret Ward at her old home after a year's absence.

SOUTHWEST LIMA. May 18.—A good rain is very much needed.

The farmers are busy planting corn.

Mrs. Will Bennett visited in Whitewater a few days during the week.

Prod Hunt is having his house painted.

A large crowd of ladies attended the auction at S. White's, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. George Green entertained the ladies of the Circle, Wednesday afternoon.

C. W. Bennett was called to Oniro, Wis., Tuesday morning, by the death of an uncle.

No, indeed.

SCHOOLS TO MAKE MERRY AT A PICNIC, MAY 25TH

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Calvinville Center, May 18.—The Calvinville and Magnolia schools will have a picnic in Selzer's Grove at Magnolia, Thursday, May 25th. There will be a ball game between the two schools, races and tug of war. Mr. Fox will be there with his good natured smile and will furnish all with ice cream, pop and crackercake. Everyone is invited to come and help to make it a success. A picnic dinner will be served at noon.

At the present writing, A. F. Townsend is a little better, but does not gain as fast as his many friends would wish him.

LAKOTA MEMBERS AT MAY DANCING PARTY

Local Club of Young Men Gave Enjoyable Party in Central Hall Last Evening.

Despite the lateness of the season and the warmth of the night, the May dancing party given last evening in Central hall by the Lakota club, was in every way a success. About one hundred couples attended the affair, which was as delightful an event as ever was given under the club auspices.

George L. Hatch's orchestra rendered a pleasing program of selections from the latest popular successes and popular music, responding to many requests. The walls were adorned with the club banners and school and college pennants. The dancing lasted until one o'clock.

Yesterday afternoon the students of Roman life at the local high school were shown lantern slides which depicted Roman life in a very vivid manner. All told there were about one hundred and fifty slides. These pictures showed the ruins of the Forum at Rome and also the ruins of the city of Pompeii.

The pictures on the historical buildings and ruins were described by Prof. Thos. Johnson of the local school, department of the local school. These pictures showed the ruins of the Forum at Rome. In this ruined Forum, they showed the different basilicas and temples such as the Temple of Jupiter, Saturn and Vesta. Also pictures of the dungeons where the apostle Paul is said to have been held, and of the Coliseum and Mausoleum were shown.

After these, Prof. Vlymen of the Latin department, described some pictures on Roman home life. These pictures showed the plan of the Roman houses and their decorations. Following these there were a few pictures on the ruins of the city of Pompeii. Altogether the set of slides was very satisfactory and instructive.

A MOUSE THAT SINGS

NOTES COMPARED TO SONG OF DISTANT NIGHTINGALE.

Song is Very Sweet, but Consists of Only Two Notes Delivered With Rapid Alteration—No One Understands Species.

"A friendly caller," writes a correspondent of the Raja Yopa Messenger, "once told me of a singing mouse that crept out at luncheon time and shared his meal with him, and he offered to catch the little songstress and send her up to me."

"A few days after I received a common looking house mouse, to whom I gave the name of Lizzie. She soon became quite tame, so that she would run over my shoulders, hide up my sleeve and nibble crumbs on the palm of my hand."

"Sometimes as she was thus eating I covered her over with the other hand, and if she felt this arrangement too warm she would gently pinch my skin between her teeth as a hint that she wanted more air."

"I kept her in a wire cage that stood upon the mantelpiece of my bedroom, and not thinking it quite fair to condemn her to solitary confinement I trapped another mouse to keep her company."

"One morning I saw them giving one another a splendid wash and brushup with their tongues and claws. Each mouse meekly submitted to being groomed in turn and in fact they seemed to like the operation."

"When her family of blind, pink, blunt nosed, naked mouselings, was born she went almost wild with excitement and joy. She darted in and out of her nest box, singing at the top of her voice, and carried a helpless baby in her mouth."

"Her song was very sweet, but consisted of only two notes delivered with rapid alteration. She would sing even when sitting at rest in her bed; but when in active exercise the notes were poured forth in a shrill, rapid stream, which one might compare to the sound of a distant nightingale."

"An old collier in whose room I once left the mouse declared that her singing was 'simply sublime.' Many singing mice have been found, but no one quite understands them."

"Lizzie lived with me four years and to the last was always active, cheerful and contented; but little by little she began to steal upon her. Her lively trot had lost nothing of its activity, but it became untidy. Her little pink paws began to show wrinkles. Her teeth were now unable to crack hempseed and so she lived on bread and milk. One day I found her stiff and cold in the doorway of her nest. Her song will never cheer my heart again."

Wonderful, Mexico. Mexico is a country of wonderful resources. As far as mining and agriculture goes, it is superior to some good parts of the United States. The climate in some places is in many ways about as fine as anywhere in the world. With the right population in Mexico it would mean train loads of food and minerals and billions of dollars for the rest of the world. You know a long time ago Canada was thought to be the only fit for furring, fishing and trapping, and all the world thought Canada was but a dreary waste of ice plains with plenty of mountains of useless snow. But to day you see where Canada is and maybe in another ten years Mexico will undergo a greater change in its self and in the opinion of the world than has Canada.

Two Slides to Dream. "That man says he's going to wake everybody up when he gets to the legislature." "Yes," replied Farmer Cornsack. "But in politics, when a man talks too much about waking other people up it's likely as not a sign that he's dreamin' himself."

There are so many little things we can do that cost little both in time and money, yet count so much in the making of the home beautiful. For instance, take papa's old pants: how many of you stop to think out the possibilities of using them in the home? And yet they can be used in more attractive little ways, when off papa, than you would ever dream was possible.

I have one bright little friend who has utilized them in such a pretty, sweet way, by making hanging jardiniere. This she does by tying the bottom of each leg with bows of ribbon, filling the whole with sand, then planting ferns at the top and hanging them up by the suspenders.

This is a particularly pretty decoration for a bay window, especially if papa is a stout man, for then, of course, the contour of both the pants and the window coincide, which is always a good point in interior decoration, as all lines should be harmonious.

Another pretty idea is to use them as a parlor portiere. This can be done with very little work and small expense, by tacking the waistband to the upper frame of the door, and drawing a leg back to each side of the door frame and fastening it there with a cord or bright ribbon. You have no idea, girls, what a sweet effect this gives, and it is absolutely free for any room or hall.

If they are so worn as to be fringed at the bottom, so much the better, as fringed portieres are oftentimes handsomer than when only hemmed. Red flannel underpants are especially pretty and cheerful used in this way during the winter, while all weights and colors look well at the windows during the entire year, if draped over lace curtains.

Of course a great deal depends on the size and shape of your pants. If he be tall and slender one of his legs will make a long pleat, such as are so much in vogue now for dressing table use. This can readily be done by cutting the pants leg the desired length, stuffing with sawdust, and sewing securely at both ends. When covered with a dainty bit of lace this makes the prettiest cushion imaginable.—Helen S. Woodruff, in Harper's Weekly.

Try Grape-Nuts and cream or milk regularly for the cereal part of the morning meal a few weeks and note the improvement in mental and physical vigor.

FEARED ASSASSINATION.

When asked whether Napoleon shaved himself Tallyrand replied: "Yes. One born to be a king has some one to shave him; but they who acquire kingdoms shave themselves." Dionysius, the tyrant of Syracuse, not daring to commit himself to a barber's hands, is said to have singed his own beard with glowing walnut shells.

Happiness. Half the world is on the wrong scent in the pursuit of happiness. They think it consists in having and getting and in being served by others. It consists in giving and serving others.—Henry Drummond.

Remedy for Hoarseness. A simple remedy for hoarseness and an irritating "tickling" in the throat consists of making a gargle of an egg beaten to a froth and adding half a glass of warm, sweetened water. Drink this every little while, rather than all at once, as most men drink all liquids.

Disillusioned. The man who married a girl who had received a medal in cooking school soon arrived at the conclusion that it must have been a leather one.—Exchange.

Longed-For Opportunity. "Juggins—'Who was it said if he could make the songs of the people he wouldn't care who made their laws?' Muggins—'Don't know, but if he's the chap who's making the songs of the people nowadays I'd just like to have the making of the laws a little whiff! That's all.'—Red Hen.

They had been watching for him then—what for? Hawley on the inside, and this man Scott without, were waiting to determine when he left the hotel; would probably dog his footsteps to discover where he went. Keith loosened his revolver, so as to be assured he could draw quickly, and slipped back into the shadow of the steps, his eyes on the door of the hotel. There was a cold, drizzly rain falling, the streets almost deserted, appearing sudden and miserable where the lights shone forth through saloon windows. One or two men, seeking supper, coat collars turned up, and hats drawn low over their eyes, climbed the rickety steps and went in, but no one came out. Perhaps he was mistaken as to the purpose of these fellows; they may have desired merely to know when he left, or Scott's return just at that moment might have been an accident. To be sure, the hotel possessed a back exit, but he could not cover both ends of the building, and must take his chances. It was too wet and disagreeable to remain crouched there, now that it was evident there was no intention of following him. With hand on the butt of his gun, suspicious and watchful, yet with scarcely a faster beat to his heart, Keith straightened up, and began splashing his way through the mud down the street. He knew where Willoughby would be most likely found at this hour—with cronies at the "Tenderfoot"—and he meant to discover the boy, and make him confess to the truth. Matters had now reached a point where longer delay was dangerous.

Sheridan was seemingly dead, the long street silent, gloomy, black, except for those streams of saloon light shining across pools of water. He stumbled over the irregular ground, occasionally striking patches of wood on sidewalk or a strip of cinders. Here and there a foot slipped in the mud, which drove the drizzle into his face; somewhere ahead a swinging sign moaned as if in agony. A few wanderers ploughed through the mud, dim uncertain shapes appearing and vanishing in the gloom. He had gone a block and over, the struggle against the elements leaving him forgetful of all else, when a man reeled out of some dimly lit shack to his right, and staggered drunkenly forward a few feet in advance. He could barely distinguish the fellow's outline, giving little thought to the occurrence, for the way was unusually black along there, the saloon opposite having shades drawn. Suddenly a flash of red fire spurted into the night, with a sharp report. It was so close at hand it blinded him, and he swung up one arm over his eyes, and yet, in that single instant, he perceived the whole picture as revealed by the red flame. He saw the man in front go down in a heap, the projection of the building from behind which the shot came, the end of a wagon sticking forth into the street which had concealed the assassin. The blinding flash, the shock of that sudden discharge, for a moment held him motionless; then he leaped forward, revolver in hand, sprang around the end of the wagon, and rushed down the dark alley between two buildings. He could see nothing, but some one was running recklessly ahead of him, and he fired in the direction of the sound, the leaping spurt of flame yielding a dim outline of the fugitive. Three times he pressed the trigger; then there was nothing to shoot at—the fellow had faded away into the black void of prairie. Keith stood there baffled, staring about into the gloom, the smoking revolver in his hand. The sound of men's voices behind was all that reached him, and feeling the uselessness of further pursuit, he retraced his way back through the narrow passage.

A group was gathered about the body in the rain, a single lantern glimmering. Two or three men had started down the passageway, and Keith met them, revolvers drawn and suspicious.

Keith saw the man go down in a heap.

tell you. If it's the lad I think likely, I'll attend to the case myself. You understand—this is my personal affair."

Hickock nodded, his hand again pressing the other's shoulder.

"Sure, Jack, if you feel that way. There's enough doing here in Sheridan to keep a marshal reasonably busy, without dipping into private matters. I rather reckon you can take care of yourself, but if you need me, old boy, I'm always right here on the job. You know that."

"I do, Bill, and appreciate it."

The group about the motionless body fell away, and made room for the marshal, the last man to rise saying soberly:

"He's dead all right, Hickock. I guess he never knew what hit him. Good shootin', too; dark as it is here."

"Had the range fixed, likely," returned the marshal. "That's what makes it look like it was arranged for."

He bent down, striving to distinguish the dead man's features turned up to the drizzle, but the night revealed only the faintest outline.

"Anybody know him?" There was no response, only a shuffling of feet in the mud. "Here, you man with the lantern, hold it over where I can see. There, that is better. Now, you fellows take a look, and see if some of you can't name the poor devil."

They glanced down, one after the other, over Bill's shoulder, shading their eyes from the rain so as to see clearer. The light of the flickering lantern streamed full on the ghastly face, but each man shook his head, and passed on. Keith hung back, hoping some one would identify the body, and not make it necessary for him to take part in the gruesome task. It was not likely to be any one he knew, and besides, he felt the man had died in his stead, and he dreaded to look upon the stricken face. When the last of the group had drifted back out of the radius of light, Hickock looked up and saw him.

"Here, Jack," he said, gravely, "you better try—you might know him."

Keith bent over and looked down. As he did so his heart seemed to rise choking into his throat, and a blur obscured his sight. He swept a hand over his eyes and dropped on his knees into the mud beside the body, staring speechless into the white face, the slightest eyes. Hickock watching him closely and gripped his arm.

"What is it? Do you know him?"

"My God, yes; Fred Willoughby!"

CHAPTER XXV.

A Reappearance of the General.

Keith did not inform Hope of her brother's death until the following morning, but had the body properly prepared for burial, and devoted the remainder of the night to searching for General Walte, and, incidentally, for both Hawley and Scott. Both Hickock and Fairbairn assisted in this effort to learn the whereabouts of the dead boy's father, but without the slightest result, nor did Keith's investigations reveal the gambler at any of his accustomed resorts, while Scott had apparently made a complete getaway. These disappearances merely served to convince him as to the truth of his first suspicions; Scott might have departed for good, but Hawley would certainly reappear just as soon as assured his name had not been mentioned in connection with the tragedy. To Keith alone did the plainman candidly confide his belief in the guilt of these two, and when other duties called him elsewhere, he left the negro scouring the town for any possible reappearance of either.

Heavy-eyed from lack of sleep, heavy-hearted with his message, yet fully decided as to what advice he should offer, Keith returned to the hotel, and requested an interview with Hope. Although still comparatively early, some premonition of evil had awakened the girl, and in a very few moments she was prepared to receive her visitor. A questioning glance into his face was sufficient to assure her of unpleasant news, but with one quick breath, she grasped his arm as though his very presence afforded her strength.

"How tired you look! Something has occurred to keep you out all night—and I know you have brought me bad news. Don't be afraid to tell me; I can bear anything better than suspense. Is it about father?"

"No, Hope," and he took her hand, and led her to a chair. Bending above her he gave her the whole story of the night, and she scarcely interrupted with a question, sitting there dry-eyed, with only an occasional sob shaking her slender form. As he ended, she looked up into his face, and now he could see a mist of unshed tears in her eyes.

"What shall I do, Captain Keith? I am all alone with this, except for you."

"I have considered that, Hope," he answered, gravely, "and it seems to me your present duty is more to the living than the dead. You should remain here until we learn something definite regarding your father, and discover the truth of this conspiracy formed against him. If Fred could know the trouble his chance words have caused, he would wish you to do this. With him gone, we are going to find the unraveling harder than ever. It is my judgment, Hope, your brother should be buried here."

She shuddered, her hands pressed to her eyes.

"Oh, on that horrible 'Toots Hill'!"

"Only temporarily, little girl," his voice full of deepest sympathy. "In a few weeks, perhaps, it could be removed thence."

She was silent for what seemed to him a long while; then she looked up into his face, clinging to his arm.

"Yes," she said, "that will be best."

That same afternoon, the sun low in the west, they placed the dead boy in his shallow grave on "Toots Hill." It was a strange funeral, in a strange environment—all about the barren, deserted plains; far away to the east and west, the darker line marking the railroad grade, and just below, nestled close in against the foot of the hill, the squall town of tents and shacks. There were not many to stand beside the open grave, for few in Sheridan knew the lad, and funerals were not uncommon—some crows, half-drunk and maudlin, awed somewhat by the presence of the marshal, Doctor Fairbairn, Keith, and Hope. That was all excepting the post chaplain from Fort Hays, who, inspired by a glimpse of the girl's unveiled face, spoke simple words of comfort. It was all over with quickly, and with the red sun still lingering on the horizon, the little party slowly wended their way back, down the steep trail into the one long street of Sheridan.

At the hotel Neb was waiting, the whites of his eyes shining with excitement, his palm-line indicating important news. As soon as he could leave Hope, Keith hurried down to interview his dusky satellite, who appeared about to burst with restrained information. As soon as he uncorked that individual began to flow volubly:

"I sho' done seed 'em, Massa Jack; I done seed 'em both."

"Both? Both who?"

"Massa Walte, nah, an' dat black dobbie dat we was huntin' for. It was a mos' surprisin' circumstance, nah—a mos' surprisin' circumstance."

"Well, go on; where did you see them? Do you mean they were together?"

The negro took a long breath, evidently overcome by the importance of his message, and unable to conjure up words wholly satisfactory to his ideas.

"It sho' am de strangest! 'Ting, Massa Jack, ebbor I prognosticated. I was jest comin' round de corner ob Sheeny Joe's shebang, back dar, by de blacksmith 'shop, when—de Lawd save me!—yere come ol' Massa Walte, a ridin' 'long on a cream colo' pinto just as much albe as ebbor he was."

Yas, sah; he's whiskers was blowin' round, an' I could eben yesh him cussin' he home, when he done shy at a man what got up sudden like from a cart-wheel he was settin' on. I done took one look at dat secon' feller, and seed it was dat black dobbie from down Carson way. Den I ducked inta de blacksmith shop out 'er sight. I sho' didn't want Mister Hawley to get no chance at dis nigger—I sho' didn't."

"Did they speak to one another?"

Keith asked, anxiously. "Did you hear what was said?"

Two Educations.

We all have two educations, one from others and another, and the most valuable, which we give ourselves. It is the last which fixes our grade in society, and eventually our actual condition in this life, and the color of our fate hereafter. All the professors and teachers in the world cannot make you a wise or good man without your own co-operation; and if such you are determined to be, the want of them will not prevail.—John Randolph.

THAT AWFUL BACKACHE

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

January. The month with the Latin name, had a grimmer name in Saxon England. Alchard Varstogan, in his "Restitution of Decayed Intelligence in Antiquities," a curious book published in 1673, writes: "The month which we now call January, our Saxon ancestors called 'wolf month,' to-wit, 'wolf month,' because people are wont always in that month to be in more danger to be devoured of wolves than in any season else of the year; for that, through the extremity of cold and snow, those ravenous creatures could not find other beasts sufficient to feed upon."

THE THEATER

LEW DOCKSTADER.

At the Myers Theatre, Lew Dockstader and his minstrels will be the attraction for one evening, Monday, May 22. Mr. Dockstader has not been seen in the west for several seasons, and while it may be claimed by some that there has been a decline in this once popular form of amusement, the comedian himself holds such a commanding position in American theatricals that his own personal popularity and that of the company touring under his direction remains unshaken.

There is one thing that Dockstader is to be commended for and that is that he is not eternally prating of the "good old fashioned and palmy days of minstrelsy," but tries to keep his entertainment strictly "up-to-date" and "vintage" in every respect. He has even been daring enough to make an innovation in the proverbial "first part" and instead of the traditional soul-circle with "bones and tumbor" he has substituted a sort of musical comedy which he is pleased to designate as the "Pecanum Hunt Club Revue."

While this preserves the essence of the darky humor as a minstrel show must necessarily do, it presents the minstrel in an entirely new light, one that shows that even they may progress. Dockstader himself is more than ever and this year he has discarded even his famous dirigible balloon airship and has an aeroplane, made, so he asserts, on the plan of a Wright flying machine, although some of the doubters will insist that the brave Lew has himself firmly suspended to the flies by a system of overhead wires.

A Fuller Insight.

A young man who had just married suggested to his wife that they should argue some question fully and frankly every morning. This, he thought, would help them to gain a fuller insight into each other's nature, thus making for increased happiness. The first question happened to be, "Can a woman dress on $75 a year?" He took the affirmative, and when last seen he had climbed into a hay loft and was pulling the ladder up after him.

Game Cock Trounced the Hawk.

Paul E. Gerard went to his farm one recent Sunday afternoon, and while walking over his place he saw a chicken hawk fly to the ground and catch a chicken. One of Gerard's fine game cocks, saw its companion in trouble, and ran to its assistance, fighting the hawk, which later let go the chicken and saved its life.—Bowling Green Messenger.

Always Legal Tender.

As a legal tender, the standard silver dollar is unlimited, unless otherwise stipulated in a contract.

Dockstader will have a big company to help in the merry makings, many of them long prominent in the ranks of burnt cork artists, among these being Carroll Johnson an old-time minstrel man who has headed companies of his own. Edgie Mazier, an excellent portrayal of darky humor; "Happy" Naulty, Charles Falk, William Brandt, Frank Farron, Allan Campbell, Chas. Raymond, Thomas Hughes, William Smith and some seventy more singers, dancers and comedians. Particular stress is laid upon the quality of the music in the Dockstader entertainment while there is a big orchestra connected with the company under the direction of Edwin V. Capone, long associated with the organization.

"THE GIRL FROM U. S. A." The Girl From U. S. A., the coming attraction at Myers Theatre Saturday, May 27, matinee and evening, is a joyous creation, and something new in stage-land. The Girl goes tantalizingly light-hearted into delicious entanglements that keep the action of the play splendidly melodramatic. The clean line atmosphere of the production is most wholesome and welcome. The heart interests are deep and natural. There is a triangle love affair, and the story of the play contains several social astonishments that are delightful during recent years, and I read life.

Great attention has been given to make the stage setting as elaborate and splendid as possible. The musical settings for the play are original and from the pen of a prominent composer, but the numbers are the late popular successes of the day.

Mankind Analyzed.

The man who lives quite up to the best standards of his age, of his people, of his neighbors, is not a bad man. The one who lives on a scale considerably above that of his age is a good man, no matter how much he may fall below the higher standard of an age more refined, enlightened and civilized.

WILLIAM J. STONE.

WILL UNCLE SAM INTERVENE IN MEXICO?

Washington, D. C.—The grave results attendant upon any move looking toward intervention in Mexico on the part of the United States are being weighed in congress. Senator Stone of Missouri has come out flat-footedly for war and intervention. Senator Works of California just as strongly commends the forbearance of President Taft in withholding for the present about by the telegrams and letters which he has been receiving by two hundred from the California constituents now in Mexico, all of which state that should the United States army cross the border, the life of every American in Mexico would be in jeopardy.

J. S. RANNELLS PULLMAN HEAD.

Robert T. Lincoln Resigns, Is Elected Chairman of Board.

Chicago, May 19.—Robert Todd Lincoln, son of Abraham Lincoln, presented his expected resignation as president of the Pullman company at a meeting of the directors in Chicago and was elected chairman of the board.

John Sumner Rannels, vice-president and general counsel of the company, was elected president. Charles S. Sweet, who has been assistant to Mr. Lincoln, was elected assistant to President Rannels.

Mr. Lincoln, who is retiring from active office on account of ill health, has been president of the car company since George M. Pullman died in 1897. He is now 68 years old, and has been away from his office on account of poor health much of the time for several months. Mr. Rannels meanwhile has administered the office duties.

JEWISH MASSACRE IS FEARED.

Authorities Prepare to Combat Cry for Extermination at Kiev.

St. Petersburg, May 19.—The threats to massacre the Jews at Kiev, following the mysterious murder of a young boy and the charge that the deed was a ritualistic crime, has spurred the authorities on to renewed efforts in their investigation. The anti-Jewish newspapers have taken up the charge and, unless the correct solution of the murder is found, serious trouble is certain to follow. M. Shoberg, an eminent Jewish lawyer, pointed out that the Jews have been found blameless in all cases of murder under similar circumstances in the last forty years.

WESTERN FREIGHT RATES CUT.

Erie Road Reduces Tariff 23 Cents Per 100 Pounds.

New York, May 19.—A cut of approximately 23 cents per 100 pounds on west-bound freight between New York and Chicago was announced by the Erie Railroad company, to become effective June 15. A traffic agreement opening a river, rail and lake route is given as the reason for the reduction. The reduction came as a surprise to the other lines, and it is rumored that they will meet the cut.

Illinois College Gets $75,000.

Jacksonville, N. J., May 19.—President Rammelkamp of Illinois college here received a check for $75,000 from Andrew Carnegie in honor of Frank A. Vanderbilt, president of the National City bank of New York, the Standard Oil institution, and a close friend of Illinois college. The gift of Mr. Carnegie resulted from the raising of an equal sum by the college.
